Anythink Commerce City Closes for Renovations

Library Reopens Fall 2010

DENVER—Dec. 30, 2009—Anythink Commerce City, located at 7185 Monaco Street in Commerce City, will close temporarily for renovations and new construction on Saturday, Jan. 16, 2010, at 5:30 pm. The library is tentatively scheduled to reopen in fall 2010.

The district is currently investigating a temporary library service location nearby for limited computer access and book returns. Commerce City residents are encouraged to check the local newspapers and anythinklibraries.org in the coming weeks for further details.

Anythink in Motion, the district's bookmobile, makes several weekly stops in Commerce City and surrounding areas. They are as follows:

Anythink Commerce City renovations will include a 2,300-square-foot addition to the existing building with a new entry plaza facing the corner of 72nd and Monaco; a children's pavilion, computer lab and teen area; and a reading nook with fireplace looking out onto a small enclosed garden. The children's pavilion will include glass walls looking out onto an outdoor children's area and the coveted cottonwood tree, which has been a part of the site since before the original library was built.

About Anythink™

Anythink is a new style of library – a place of unlimited imagination, where play inspires creativity and lifelong learning. Rangeview Library District serves the residents of Adams County with six Anythink libraries and Anythink in Motion – the district's mobile library. Construction is underway on two new libraries scheduled to open in 2010. For more information, go to anythinklibraries.org.
