Anythink Announces Construction of The Studio at Anythink Wright Farms

Production Begins on New Digital Learning Lab

The Studio, slated to open in March 2013, will serve as a digital learning lab for teens, designed with an emphasis in digital media and collaboration/creativity in digital production. Features will include state-of-the-art video equipment, a green screen and a recording studio.

Minimal construction is expected to last 3-5 weeks at the Anythink Wright Farms location in Thornton, Colo. During this time, Anythink customers will still have access to the full range of services, books and equipment. Anythink Wright Farms will be repurposing existing space for The Studio and will maintain normal hours of operation and programming throughout the construction.

The Studio is made possible from a $100,000 grant funded by the Institute for Museum and Library Services and the John D. and Cather T. MacArthur Foundation. Anythink is one of the first 12 museums and libraries in the U.S. to receive this grant and serve as the national prototype for the learning labs project.

About Anythink™

Anythink is a new style of library – a place of unlimited imagination, where play inspires creativity and lifelong learning. Rangeview Library District serves the residents of Adams County with seven Anythink libraries and Anythink in Motion – the district’s mobile library – and is one of the recipients of the 2010 National Medal of Museum and Library Service from the Institute of Museum and Library Services.
